The County development plan 2022 to 2028 give upmost consideration to balance development in the Kilmeaden area re the building of houses recently planning has been given for the construction of 96 houses their was also permission given for 25 houses in another location in Kilmeaden which has been appealed to an Bord pleannla any future building of houses in the Kilmeaden area goes far beyond the requirement of local housing needs no consideration has been given to appropriate infrastructure or community services .

Balanced housing development is required to meet the housing needs in other settlements of the Comeragh area in places like Dunhill Kill Bunmahon Newtown Clonea Rathgcormack house developments in these areas would make good planning sense so as these communities could prosper in population growth and in line with all other settlements in the County.
